

Simulation 2

An old woman baked some gingerbread. She had some dough left over, so she made the shape of a little man. She made eyes, a nose and a smiling mouth and placed currawongs down his front to look like buttons. Then she laid him on a table and put him in the oven. After a while, something rattled at the oven door. She opened it and out jumped the little gingerbread man. She tried to catch him but he slipped past her, calling as he ran, "Run, run, as fast as you can. You can't catch me, I'm the gingerbread man!"

Simulation 3

There was a story about the three dilly boats crew. There was a giant dilly doat, a middle-sized gilly goat, and a little one. The three dilly doats wanted nice brown dresses, but they had to walk across a bridge to get to the new tall dress on the other side. But they had a problem. Under the bridge lived a big rat.
